Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives

- Distill a primary purpose into a single compelling statement by selecting and narrowing their own topics, and identifying and writing argumentative thesis statements.
- Order major points in a reasonable and convincing manner based on that purpose by engaging in the writing process—including prewriting, outlining, drafting, and revising; demonstrating the relationship between the thesis and outline; writing formal topic and sentence outlines; developing an introduction, body, and conclusion for each collegiate essay.
- Develop ideas using appropriate argumentative rhetorical patterns by employing reasonable, logical argumentative strategies to support fully the thesis, and also by synthesizing source materials with original thought.
- Employ correct diction, syntax, usage, grammar, mechanics, punctuation and spelling by editing and revising their essays and by addressing issues of style and audience through revision.
- Manage and coordinate basic information gathered from an outside source by the following: critically analyzing the source materials; locating and using credible secondary sources; differentiating between opinions, facts, and inferences; quoting, paraphrasing, and summarizing source materials; documenting sources according to MLA standards through a Works Cited list and internal citations.

Instructional Approach and Methods

1. The student will write at least 300 words on an assigned topic at the first class meeting in order to refer the student with basic mechanical difficulties to placement testing or to the English Learning Lab Technician. Students must also take a non-credit, objective MSV pre-test within the first week of classes.

2. In addition to the first-day writing sample, the student will write a minimum of four papers of at least 600, 800, 1000, and 1200 words each throughout the course. All of these three papers must include primary source quotations and be documented according to MLA style. At least one of these three must also include quotations from secondary sources such as articles from the WSCC Library databases. If the instructor chooses, one of these papers may be an essay examination of 600 words. All papers other than timed, in-class essays must contain an MLA-style Works Cited page. These four papers represent a minimum for the course, and with drafts and informal writing assignments, students should write over 5000 words during the semester.

4. The student will keep all required paper drafts and make revisions according to instructions. The instructor may require that this process be completed electronically. Any major paper assignments evaluated outside of eLearn must be submitted to the instructor at the end of the semester.

5. The student must rewrite any lost papers. The student must also complete the objective MSV post-test, which will count toward the final grade.

6. The student will plan before writing each paper. For this purpose the student will write formal outlines.

Assessment, Evaluation and Testing Procedures

Discussion boards, Dropboxes, and quizzes will be administered online through the eLearn format. Students should familiarize themselves with the Quizzes tab in eLearn, as well as the Discussion Board tab in eLearn, and the Dropbox tab in eLearn. No other forms of submission are acceptable, and only these quizzes, discussion boards, and dropboxes will be assessed and evaluated. The instructor evaluates each paper on its own merits. The instructor will address criteria such as the quality of content and organization, thesis, specific detail to support and develop general statements, and the number and frequency of serious errors (such as fragments, comma splices, fused sentences, errors in agreement and tense, and awkward constructions). Repeated errors and deficiencies become significant in the evaluation of the student's writing. Since progress is the principal objective, students will have multiple opportunities to demonstrate mastery of the evaluated criteria.

Grading Scale

A	90-100
B	80-89
C	70-79
D	60-69
F	0-59

Class Participation

Students must attend the first day of on-ground class or contact the instructor prior to the first class. Failure to do this may result in being dropped from the class. Excessive absences may substantially lower the course grade.

Regular class attendance is a student's obligation for any course regardless of format. (See the Walters State Catalog/Student Handbook). If a student misses class, it is his or her responsibility to contact the instructor regarding missed assignments and/or activities and to be prepared for the next class assignment.

Students enrolled in web courses must follow the course attendance policy defined for online attendance during the first week of class and throughout the term. Failure to do this may result in being dropped from the class during week one OR may result in the accrual of absences which may negatively impact the student's grade in the course.

Additional Course Requirements/Details/Information

Additional Course Details

See Addendum in eLearn

- Attendance Process: Roll will be taken at the beginning of class. It is the student's responsibility to inform the professor, after class, if he or she came in late. NOTE: for security reasons, the classroom will be locked when class starts. If you arrive late, you will have to knock in order to enter the classroom. Make every effort to arrive to class on time. Online class attendance is a combination of participation in the class, logins, time in class, and completed work.
- Attendance Policy: Students are expected to attend class regularly. Excessive absences for any reasons may result in a lower grade or failure for the course. Excessive for a MWF class would be one more than 9 absences. For a TR or MW class it is one more than 6. For a one day a week class, one more than three is excessive.
- Procedure for Submission of work: All work for this class should be submitted to the appropriate drop box in eLearn, in the correct discussion boards in eLearn, or under the Quizzes feature in eLearn. It is the student's responsibility to make sure that work is submitted properly. Work submitted to the wrong drop box, wrong discussion, or wrong quiz will be recorded as non-submitted. Also, missing work due to a student inaccurately submitting work will be recorded as non-submitted. Students cannot email assignments to the professor.
- Testing procedures: Discussion boards, Dropboxes, and quizzes will be administered online through the eLearn format. Students should familiarize themselves with the Quizzes tab in eLearn, as well as the Discussion Board tab in eLearn, and the Dropbox tab in eLearn.
- Evaluation Process: Errors on corrected papers will be marked using the Turnitin feature through eLearn. Students must submit work to eLearn in a format that is readable by the platform. This means Microsoft word (.doc), or Rich Text Format (.rtf), or a PDF. It is the student's responsibility to make sure each submitted assignment is in a readable format. Documents that are submitted to eLearn in the Pages format, or other format besides PDF, RTF, or Word are currently unreadable in eLearn and will not be accepted. NOTE: Every Walters State student has access to every computer lab on any campus whenever there is not class scheduled in the lab. Access to the correct format is assured by utilizing these labs, or by simply downloading the free Word provided by WSCC to all students, or using Word online.
- Work return procedure: Submitted student work will be sent back to the student, after grading, utilizing the feedback function of the drop box in eLearn, and the marking feature in Turnitin. Students will be able to view graded material from the appropriate drop box. It is the student's responsibility to inform the professor if they either cannot find the graded work or feel the work is missing. In the event of a grade dispute, it is the student's responsibility to provide documentation of course work. Please allow two weeks after submission for feedback appear.
- Communication with the instructor: Students are encouraged to use the eLearn email function to communicate with their professor. Using the email function inside of individual classes will aid the professor in identifying the student and replying in a timely manner. Students can also call and leave messages, or email using WSCC Senators email.
