Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives

- Student Learning Outcomes and Course Objectives By the end of this course, students will be able to: [1.] distill a primary purpose into a single compelling statement by (a.) selecting and narrowing their own topics; (b.) identifying and writing argumentative thesis statements; [2.] order major points in a reasonable and convincing manner based on that purpose by (a.) engaging in the writing process—including prewriting, outlining, drafting, and revising. b. demonstrating the relationship between the thesis and outline; (c.) writing formal topic and sentence outlines. (d.) developing an introduction, body, and conclusion for each collegiate essay; [3.] develop ideas using appropriate argumentative rhetorical patterns by (a.) employing reasonable, logical argumentative strategies to support fully the thesis; (b.) synthesizing source materials with original thought; [4.] employ correct diction, syntax, usage, grammar, mechanics, punctuation, and spelling by (a.) editing and revising their essays; (b.) addressing issues of style and audience through revision; [5.] manage and coordinate basic information gathered from an outside source by (a.) critically analyzing the source materials; (b.) locating and using credible secondary sources; (c.) differentiating between opinions, facts, and inferences; (d.) quoting, paraphrasing, and summarizing source materials; (e.) documenting sources according to MLA standards through a Works Cited list and internal citations.

Instructional Approach and Methods

1. Students will produce an argumentative writing sample at the first class meeting in order for the instructor to evaluate basic writing skills and to make referrals for further assessments.
2. In addition to the sample, students will complete a first-of-semester Multiple Sections Verification (MSV) objective exam (which does not receive a grade), an end-of-semester MSV objective exam (which counts 5% of the final grade), quizzes, in-class writings, and major graded papers. These writings represent a minimum for the course, and with drafts and informal writing assignments, students should write a minimum of 4000 words during the semester.
3. To complete the course successfully, students must not only earn a passing grade but also demonstrate mastery of the general education reading and writing competencies as reflected on the departmental rubrics. These competencies will be evaluated with each major paper.
4. Students will move through a process to complete major papers. The process will vary according to assignments, but it should include prewriting, outlining, drafting, and editing.
5. Students must write a minimum of four papers (including the writing sample). The instructor and peers will assess stages of the writing process for each paper, and the student will revise accordingly to arrive at a final draft. Revisions may receive daily points for addressing instructor and peer feedback, but once a student submits a major paper for a final grade, it cannot be resubmitted for a higher grade.
6. The student will keep all required paper drafts and make revisions according to instructions. The instructor may require that this process be completed electronically. Any major paper assignments evaluated outside of eLearn must be submitted to the instructor at the end of the semester.
7. The student will submit print or electronic notes, bibliographic information, rough drafts, and source material used in preparation of documented papers so that the instructor may verify paraphrased material and direct quotations. Additionally, students will submit all major papers to eLearn dropboxes for plagiarism detection.

Assessment, Evaluation and Testing Procedures

The instructor evaluates each paper on its own merits. While there is no single formula for evaluating any paper, in this course all papers will be assessed by standard rubrics.

These rubrics will address criteria such as the quality of content and organization, thesis, specific detail to support and develop general statements, and the number and frequency of serious errors (such as fragments, comma splices, fused sentences, errors in agreement and tense, and awkward constructions). Repeated errors and deficiencies become significant in the evaluation of the student's writing. Since progress is the principal objective, students will have multiple opportunities to demonstrate mastery of the evaluated criteria.

Grading Scale

A 100% (900-1000 points) B 80 – 89% (800-899 points) C 70 – 79% (700-799 points) D 60 – 69% (600-699 points) F 59% and below (0-599 points)

Assignments

The maximum total points possible is 1,000.

Paper 1 is 100 points (10% of grade).

Paper 2 is 100 points (10% of grade).

Paper 3 is 250 points (25% of grade).

Paper 4 is 200 points (20% of grade).

Writing exercises make up 240 points (24% of grade)

Quizzes comprise 60 points (6% of grade).

The MSV post-test is worth 50 points (5% of grade).

Class Participation

I may take attendance at the beginning of each meeting; thus, if you are tardy, it is your responsibility to notify me that you are present at the end of class. Otherwise, you will be marked absent, for I do not guarantee that I will notice you if you come in late, nor am I able to accept any “after the fact” notifications (via e-mail or otherwise) assuring me that you were in attendance on any previous days. During the fall and spring semesters, any student who has more than seven absences in a MW (or TR) class, or more than three absences in an evening class (which meets only once a week) may be denied credit for the course.

Course and Class Policies/Procedures

Minors on Campus

According to Walters State official policy: Children may not accompany adults into classrooms.

Word Processing

Students must use Microsoft Word '97 or above because a number of essays and assignments will be submitted electronically. Please submit all assignments as Word Documents .

On a Related Note: All documents sent to any dropbox for this class will be run through the “TurnItIn” program. If the file/document that you send cannot be opened and/or read by “TurnItIn” – see previous paragraph for acceptable file formats – then that’s the same as if you didn’t submit the assignment on time, with all attendant late penalties as warranted. (See the section below called “Dropboxes” for more details)

Proper Etiquette in Classroom Situations

Be courteous and professional when you communicate in class and when you respond to others. Show respect for opinions, values, beliefs, and ideas of others. Never use language that you think others might find offensive or belittling. Respond civilly and politely. Maintain a basic level of respect for others.

Students are expected to listen respectfully to instructor during class lectures or to a classmate who is addressing the class during class discussions.

eLearn

I will post relevant course documents to E-Learn regularly. Please check E-Learn frequently; I would define “frequently” (in this context) as “at least once a day,” for you will be responsible for any information, documents, “News Items,” e-mails, et cetera that I post there. If I need to communicate with you, then I will do so via posting a “News Item” on E- Learn and/or via the E-Learn e-mail function. I will plan to check my eLearn e-mail regularly during the college week, and I shall endeavor to respond to your correspondence within 24 to 48 hours during the college week.

Dropboxes

All assignments designated as being due to a dropbox will be due to the appropriate dropbox in eLearn. Any assignment sent to the wrong dropbox will be ignored, and you will not receive any credit for it. Any assignment designated as being due to a dropbox sent to me as an e-mail attachment will be ignored, and you will not receive any credit for it. Any assignment sent to a dropbox that I am unable to open will be ignored, and you will not receive any credit for it. (See note above called “Word Processing”, making note of acceptable file formats) Any file/document that you send cannot be opened and/or read by “TurnItIn”It will be ignored, and you will not receive any credit for it. (See note above called “Word Processing”, making note of acceptable file formats)

It is your responsibility to make sure that you are able to submit documents in acceptable formats. It is your responsibility to make sure that your connection to eLearn (and to the dropboxes) is working properly. It is your responsibility to make sure that assignments were indeed sent to the Dropbox.

Discussion Boards

All assignments designated as being due to a discussion board will be due to the appropriate discussion board in eLearn. Any assignment sent to the wrong discussion board will be ignored, and you will not receive any credit for it. Any assignment sent to me as an e-mail attachment will be ignored, and you will not receive any credit for it. Any assignment sent to a discussion board as an attached document that I am unable to open will be ignored, and you will not receive any credit for it. (See note above called “Word Processing”, making note of acceptable file formats) It is your responsibility to make sure that you are able to submit documents in acceptable formats. It is your responsibility to make sure that your connection to eLearn (and to the discussion boards) is working properly. It is your responsibility to make sure that assignments were indeed sent to the discussion board, for I will not be informing students if I do not receive a particular assignment.

Quizzes

There are a number of quizzes that will be administered in this class on eLearn. It is your responsibility to make sure that your connection to eLearn (and to the quizzes) is working properly. It is your responsibility to make sure that quizzes were completed properly, for I will not be informing students if I do not receive a particular assignment.

Final Drafts of Papers

All dropboxes for final drafts of papers (unless otherwise announced) will close at 11:59PM the day that the relevant final draft is due. It is your responsibility to make sure that your connection to eLearn (and to the dropboxes) is working properly. It is your responsibility to make sure that assignments were indeed sent to the Dropbox, for I will not be informing students if I do not receive a particular assignment.

Final drafts of papers are the only assignments that will be accepted late. However, as discussed on posted Syllabus, there will be a late penalty. As per English Department policy, for each day that the Final Draft of a paper is late, there will be a grade penalty of 10% of the total points possible for that paper, up to seven days late, at which point the assignment will get an automatic zero. Any form of plagiarism, either accidental or intentional, on the paper will result in an "F" with no chance for make-up. Note that all Final Drafts will be run through the "TurnItIn" program.

My usual instructional remarks will not be given to extremely late papers.

The syllabus does not constitute a contract between the student and the instructor or the College. The information contained here is subject to change at any time. The instructor reserves the right to modify this syllabus at any time with written notification to the students. Though changes are possible, it is expected that the course will be conducted as described in this syllabus for the semester/year specified in the Course Information section of the syllabus. This syllabus is only valid for the semester/year specified and course requirements are not guaranteed for future semesters.

COURSE GROUND RULES

- Students must attend the first day of on-ground class or contact the instructor prior to the first class. Failure to do this may result in being dropped from the class. Excessive absences may substantially lower the course grade.
- Regular class attendance is a student's obligation for any course regardless of format. (See the Walters State Catalog/Student Handbook). If a student misses class, it is his or her responsibility to contact the instructor regarding missed assignments and/or activities and to be prepared for the next class assignment.
- Students enrolled in web courses must follow the course attendance policy defined for online attendance during the first week of class and throughout the term. Failure to do this may result in being dropped from the class during week one OR may result in the accrual of absences which may negatively impact the student's grade in the course.
- Students who have not paid fees on time and/or are not correctly registered for this class and whose names do not appear on official class rolls generated by the Walters State student information system (MyWS) will not be allowed to remain in class or receive credit for this course.
