Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives

- distill a primary purpose into a single compelling statement by selecting and narrowing their own topics.

identifying and writing argumentative thesis statements.

- order major points in a reasonable and convincing manner based on that purpose by engaging in the writing process—including prewriting, outlining, drafting, and revising.

demonstrating the relationship between the thesis and outline.

writing formal topic and sentence outlines.

developing an introduction, body, and conclusion for each collegiate essay.

- develop ideas using appropriate argumentative rhetorical patterns by employing reasonable, logical argumentative strategies to support fully the thesis.

synthesizing source materials with original thought.

- employ correct diction, syntax, usage, grammar, mechanics, punctuation and spelling by editing and revising their essays.

addressing issues of style and audience through revision.

- manage and coordinate basic information gathered from an outside source by critically analyzing the source materials.

locating and using credible secondary sources.

differentiating between opinions, facts, and inferences.

quoting, paraphrasing, and summarizing source materials.

documenting sources according to MLA standards through a Works Cited list and internal citations

Instructional Approach and Methods

1. Students will produce an argumentative writing sample at the first class meeting in order for the instructor to evaluate basic writing skills and to make referrals for further assessments.
2. In addition to the sample, students will complete a first-of-semester Multiple Sections Verification (MSV) objective exam (which does not receive a grade), an end-of-semester MSV objective exam (which counts 5% of the final grade), quizzes, in-class writings, and major graded papers. These writings represent a minimum for the course, and with drafts and informal writing assignments, students should write a min of 4000 words during the semester.
3. To successfully complete the course, students must not only earn a passing grade but also demonstrate mastery of the general education reading and writing competencies as reflected on the departmental rubrics. These competencies will be evaluated with each major paper.
4. Students will move through a process to complete major papers. The process will vary according to assignments, but it should include prewriting, outlining, drafting, and editing.
5. Students must write a minimum of four papers (including the writing sample). The instructor and peers will assess stages of the writing process for each paper, and the student will revise accordingly to arrive at a final draft. Revisions may receive daily points for addressing instructor and peer feedback, but once a student submits a major paper for a final grade, it cannot be resubmitted for a higher grade.
6. The student will keep all required paper drafts and make revisions according to instructions. The instructor may require that this process be completed electronically. Any major paper assignments evaluated outside of eLearn must be submitted to the instructor at the end of the semester.
7. The student will submit print or electronic notes, bibliographic information, rough drafts, and source material used in preparation of documented papers so that the instructor may verify paraphrased material and direct quotations. Additionally, students will submit all major papers to eLearn dropboxes for plagiarism detection.

Assessment, Evaluation and Testing Procedures

The instructor evaluates each paper on its own merits. While there is no single formula for evaluating any paper, in this course all papers will be assessed by standard rubrics. These rubrics will address criteria such as the quality of content and organization, thesis, specific detail to support and develop general statements, and the number and frequency of serious errors (such as fragments, comma splices, fused sentences, errors in agreement and tense, and awkward constructions). Repeated errors and deficiencies become significant in the evaluation of the student's writing. Since progress is the principal objective, students will have multiple opportunities to demonstrate mastery of the evaluated criteria.

Grading Scale

The following scale will be used to determine the student's final grade in the course. Please also see additional course details for more information on grade breakdown.

A	90-100
B	80-89
C	70-79
D	60-69
F	59 or lower

Assignments

In addition to the grading tool in eLearn, I have also provided a grade sheet for you to use in Content to help you keep up with your grade. I suggest that you use it often so that you know exactly where you stand in this course at all times. Here are the grades you can earn:

- 6 Discussion Board Assignments (20 points each) – 120 points
- 4 Homeworks (50 points each) – 200 points
- 2 Rough Drafts (10 points each) – 20 points
- 2 Peer Reviews (20 points each) – 40 points
- 2 Papers (200 points each) – 400 points
- Newsroom Project – 200 points
- MSV Post Test – 20 points

Total Possible Points for the Course: 1000

A= 900-1000

B= 800-899

C= 700-799

D= 600-699

F= below 600

Policy on Submission of Work

All work submitted to the dropbox must be in a readable file. The best option is to use an rtf (rich text format) file so that most operating systems can read the file.

Students must check to see that work appears in the dropbox once it has been submitted. Students should save the confirmation email received from eLearn after putting work into a dropbox as verification of their submission. It is the students' responsibility to be aware of due dates. Because eLearn allows students to check all submissions, the instructor will not be required to notify students if work is not submitted.

Late work (except for essays) will not be accepted without dated documentation of extenuating circumstances deemed appropriate by the instructor. Because due dates are apparent and the HelpDesk is available, computer/Internet issues are not acceptable reasons for excusing late work. Submit all work in a timely manner to avoid any last minute issues.

Late essays are accepted but are penalized 10% per day that the essay is late. Essays that are more than 10 days late will not be accepted for credit. Students must submit all essays to be eligible to pass.

Work will be returned to students as soon as possible using eLearn, most likely within two weeks of the due date.

Major Due Dates

There is a schedule for this course in eLearn that provides students with a course map and due dates. Students are expected to use this schedule to keep up with assignments in the course and to note important deadlines. Should it become necessary due to unforeseen circumstances such as inclement weather, the instructor will advise students of any changes that must be made to the schedule.

Class Participation

Attendance will be taken daily, either with the class roll or through assignments. Students missing more than nine class hours will fail the course. Arriving late or leaving early will count as at least one half day absence. This policy translates as follows:

- For a 3-day per week class, you may not miss more than nine classes.
- For a 2-day per week class, you may not miss more than six classes.
- For a 1-night per week class, you may not miss more than three classes.

- For an online class, attendance is taken with the assignment due date. If an assignment is not submitted by the student, an absence is counted for that day, even if the assignment is turned in at a later time.

Students are encouraged to not miss any class session, however, as habitual absences are closely linked to lack of success in this course.

Course and Class Policies/Procedures

Policy on Communication with the Instructor

In addition to being available during class time, the instructor encourages students to also use the time before and after a class session to ask questions, as well as during the posted office hours of the instructor. Emailing through the eLearn course is the best option for contacting the instructor outside of class or office hours. Walters State email works, too, and is checked frequently. Phone calls are recommended only as a last option. If the course material, syllabus, news items, or class discussion has not addressed an issue a student may have, he or she should not hesitate to contact the instructor for more help.

Policy on Student Responsibility

It is the students' responsibility to read all assigned materials and instructions. It is recommended that the student look at email each day to keep current with important information.

In the event of a grade dispute, it is the student's responsibility to provide documentation of course work.

Online/Web-Enhanced Course Supplementary Information

During the semester, this course will be offered in a lecture format where we meet in person for class sessions. Because we use technology to supplement this course, here are some important notes:

- eLearn course: We have an eLearn course which provides an online environment that is essential to success in this course.
- Online meetings: I will use technology to work with those of you who would like more assistance. These opportunities are optional and helpful.
- Assignments: All assignments are located in the course syllabus and in the Content section of this course site. Due dates are listed in the Tentative Schedule. All assignments are submitted via eLearn, unless you have a technical issue. In that case, send your assignment to me WS email.
- Minimum Technology Requirements: eLearn is a necessary and helpful tool in this course, and it is the primary email we will use to communicate with. You will have options for using a variety of technological resources for assignments, and you may choose these resources based on your skills and familiarity with them. Make sure you have regular access to a computer and the Internet. Walters State has support if you need it.

Academic Honesty

Faculty expect all students to refrain from acts of academic misconduct including but not limited to:

1. Plagiarism - refers to using another person's ideas or writing without giving proper credit to the original source. Indulging in this type of conduct will subject the student to disciplinary sanctions, which may be imposed through the regular institutional procedures of Walters State Community College as outlined in the Student Handbook. Plagiarism will result in a grade of "0" for the paper/exam/presentation. Student Conduct and Disciplinary Sanctions contained in the college Catalog/Student Handbook apply (see policy 04:18:02 Disciplinary Sanctions).

Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to the following:

- a. Using cut/paste tool from original document with no references given.
 - b. Copying another student's work and submitting it as one's own.
 - c. Forging or otherwise altering signatures.
 - d. Giving or falsifying academic documents or materials.
2. Cheating - construed as attempting to deceive or mislead which includes, but is not limited to the following:
 - a. Utilizing old tests, projects, notes or written papers.
 - b. Providing unauthorized information to a fellow student about exam content.
 - c. Receiving unauthorized aid from any source with quizzes, examinations, or other assignments.
 - d. Seeking information in an unacceptable manner during/preceding an exam or other assigned work (cheat sheet, verbal exchange, looking at another person's paper or electronic device, utilizing headphones, using textbook when the test/quiz is not an open book test/quiz, using textbook test bank etc.).
 - e. Consulting with a classmate or others when taking a computerized test.
 - f. Disregarding other specific policies and procedures outlined for a particular class.
 - g. Utilizing unapproved technology/electronic equipment during testing (i.e.: mobile devices such as cell phones, smart devices, or tablets, etc.).
 - h. Using the same Internet Protocol network address (IP address) as another student for testing without approval from the course faculty.

3. The use of any generative artificial intelligence (AI) tool, such as OpenAI's ChatGPT, Google's Bard, or any other pre-trained language model (commonly referred to as "chatbot"), must be cited for any assignment where it has been used and may not be used unless specifically allowed by your instructor. Please see your instructor or the course policies within the syllabus if you have questions.

PURPOSE, LIMITATIONS AND MODIFICATION OF SYLLABUS

This syllabus sets forth the expectations for the course content, work, and grading as well as expectations for student performance and conduct. The syllabus does not constitute a contract between the student and the instructor or the College. The information contained here is subject to change at any time. The instructor reserves the right to modify this syllabus at any time with written notification to the students. Though changes are possible, it is expected that the course will be conducted as described in this syllabus for the semester/year specified in the Course Information section of the syllabus. This syllabus is only valid for the semester/year specified and course requirements are not guaranteed for future semesters.

COURSE GROUND RULES

- Students must attend the first day of on-ground class or contact the instructor prior to the first class. Failure to do this may result in being dropped from the class. Excessive absences may substantially lower the course grade.
- Regular class attendance is a student's obligation for any course regardless of format. (See the Walters State Catalog/Student Handbook). If a student misses class, it is his or her responsibility to contact the instructor regarding missed assignments and/or activities and to be prepared for the next class assignment.
- Students enrolled in web courses must follow the course attendance policy defined for online attendance during the first week of class and throughout the term. Failure to do this may result in being dropped from the class during week one OR may result in the accrual of absences which may negatively impact the student's grade in the course.
- Students who have not paid fees on time and/or are not correctly registered for this class and whose names do not appear on official class rolls generated by the Walters State student information system (MyWS) will not be allowed to remain in class or receive credit for this course.
- Electronic devices must not disrupt the instructional process or college-sponsored academic activity. Use of electronic devices is prohibited unless use of the device is relevant to the activity and use is sanctioned by the faculty member in charge. Electronic devices that are not relevant to the activity or sanctioned by the faculty member in charge should be set so that they will not produce an audible sound during classroom instruction or other college-sponsored academic activity.

FINANCIAL AID

Students receiving any type of financial aid or scholarship should contact the Financial Aid Office before making any changes to their schedule. Schedule changes without prior approval may result in loss of award for the current term and future terms.

All forms of student Financial Aid may be jeopardized or lost due to the lack of Satisfactory Academic Progress in one or multiple courses. Lack of Satisfactory Academic Progress may negatively impact a student's degree/certificate completion pace and further jeopardize Financial Aid eligibility.

CANCELLATION OF CLASSES AND ACADEMIC CONTINUITY
