Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives

- 1. apply ENGL 1010 planning, organizing, drafting, revising and editing skills to the writing of literary argument papers in ENGL 1020.
- 2. read closely primary and secondary sources and understand them at interpretive and evaluative levels in preparation for writing about them.
- 3. distinguish among opinions, facts, inferences, and persuasive approaches in primary and secondary sources.
- 4. formulate thesis sentences based on readings of primary and/or secondary sources, to select material from them to support the thesis, and to write papers with well-developed ideas supporting the thesis.

- 5. use appropriate rhetorical patterns, such as comparison/contrast and argumentation, to demonstrate an understanding of the elements of fiction, poetry and drama in coherent essays which develop literary arguments from process to product.
- 6. manage, coordinate, and document primary and secondary sources according to MLA style in solving problems and arriving at decisions in the writing process.

Instructional Approach and Methods

Instructional and Evaluation Methods

1. The student will write at least 300 words on an assigned topic at the first class meeting in order to refer the student with basic mechanical difficulties to placement testing or to the English Learning Lab Technician. Students must also take a non-credit, objective MSV pre-test within the first week of classes.
2. In addition to the first-day writing sample, the student will write a minimum of five papers of at least 600 words each throughout the course. At least four of these five papers must include primary source quotations and be documented according to MLA style. At least one of these five must also include quotations from secondary sources such as articles from the WSCC Library databases. If the instructor chooses, one of these papers may be an essay examination of 600 words. All papers other than timed, in-class essays must contain an MLA-style Works Cited page. These six papers represent a minimum for the course, and with drafts and informal writing assignments, students should write over 5000 words during the semester.
3. The student will keep all required paper drafts and make revisions according to instructions. The instructor may require that this process be completed electronically. Any major paper assignments evaluated outside of eLearn must be submitted to the instructor at the end of the semester.
4. The student must rewrite any lost papers. The student must also complete the objective MSV post-test, which will count toward the final grade.
5. The student will plan before writing each paper. For this purpose the student will write formal outlines.

Assessment, Evaluation and Testing Procedures

eLearn

eLearn is a crucial component to your success in this course. Students should check in to our course shell every single day. I will use this platform to do the following, for example:

1. a news item that recounts classroom content, assignments, responsibilities, due dates, and the like.
2. post documents such as readings, lectures, assignment sheets, supplementary materials, and the like.
3. repositories for assignments, like discussion boards, quizzes, surveys, and dropbox assignments.

If I need to communicate with you, then I will do so via posting a news item and/or via e-mail function. I will plan to check my eLearn e-mail daily.

Word Processing

Students must use a word processor since all essays and assignments will be submitted electronically. The English Department privileges Microsoft Word. Documents are best submitted in Word Documents (.doc or .docx). If a student prefers Google Docs, then they should export the document as a .pdf to submit to the Dropbox. The following formats, for example, will not be accepted for credit because the dropbox often cannot process them:

1. .rtf (Rich Text)
2. .pages (Pages on Mac)
3. .html (Web Page)

Here is the standard rule of thumb: If I can't open your documents and if a TurnItIn report cannot be processed according to the format in which you've submitted your assignment, then that's the same as if you didn't submit the assignment on time, with all attendant late penalties as warranted. Students are encouraged to check with me to make sure that I can read your file, but if I have problems with opening your file, then I will contact you directly.

Dropboxes

Dropbox assignments will be due in their respective dropbox in eLearn. Every submission in the dropbox will be run through TurnItIn. Here are the rules regarding submitting assignments:

1. Students must submit their assignments to the correct dropbox because the dropbox is directly linked to a grade item. The correct assignment must be housed in its proper dropbox in order to be assessed.
2. I cannot accept assignments via email because assignments must be linked directly with the dropbox and its grade item and because they must be filtrated through the TurnItIn portal.

Please turn in your work to the Dropbox and never through email because technology cannot allow me to grade an assignment that is not connected to a Dropbox.

3. If you initially have trouble working a dropbox, then please feel free to reach out to me.
However, ultimately, it is your responsibility to make sure that you are able to submit documents in acceptable formats.

Testing Procedures

The instructor evaluates each paper on its own merits. While there is no single formula for evaluating any paper, in this course all papers will be assessed by standard rubrics. These rubrics will address criteria such as the quality of content and organization, thesis, specific detail to support and develop general statements, and the number and frequency of serious errors (such as fragments, comma splices, fused sentences, errors in agreement and tense, and awkward constructions). Repeated errors and deficiencies become significant in the evaluation of the student's writing. Since progress is the principal objective, students will have multiple opportunities to demonstrate mastery of the evaluated criteria.

Grading Scale

A	90 to 100
B	80 to 89
C	70 to 79
D	69 to 60
F	59 or lower

Assignments

Assignment	Points
First Week Writing Sample	50
Paper 1: Short Fiction	150
Paper 2: Poetry	200
Paper 3: Drama	250
Writing Assignments	210
Quizzes	90
MSV Post-Test	50
Total	1000

Class Participation

Attendance

Because this is a conventional class, I will take daily attendance according to students' physical presence in the classroom. I keep up with attendance for institutional purposes, like financial aid and dual enrollment, and attendance will mirror your dedication to the class and completing coursework.

In the event that you miss class, I encourage students to do the following:

1. Log into eLearn! Responsibilities will be posted on the course homepage, under "News."
2. Ask another class member for notes or information regarding your missed class.

Tardiness

If you are tardy in a conventional class, then you must comply with the following in order to be counted present:

1. Enter quietly without disturbing classmates.
2. Do not interrupt the class to say, "I'm here." You may, however, be a participant in the discussion once you've adjusted to the content and pace of the class meeting.
3. The attendance register is final once I step out of the classroom after class is dismissed.
4. In order to be fair to students who attend regularly and earn their participation, I cannot accept any "after the fact" notifications (via e-mail or in person or otherwise) assuring me that you were in attendance on any previous days.

Proper Etiquette in Classroom Situations

In English 1020, we will be discussing classic literature, new and old, and it is important to understand early that there are various credible readings of any given piece of literature. We, to the best of our ability, will view the literature in this course through historical and theoretical lenses. Discovering literature is ultimately about uncovering and appreciating undervalued perspectives, so in order to do the literature the justice it deserves, then we must also be respectful of others during our class discussions. Please respond politely and civilly in all discursive spaces.

Cellphone Statement

We cannot navigate the twenty-first century without our cellphones. However, cellphones must not disrupt the instructional process or college-sponsored academic activity. Even in the online aspects of this course, please be mindful of how your cellphone can impair your ability to focus and indulge in your education.

Course and Class Policies/Procedures

Late Policy

The only assignments that are accepted late are the final drafts of the following essays:

1. Paper 1: Short Fiction
2. Paper 2: Poetry

Late essays are accepted but are penalized one letter grade per day that the essay is late. Essays that are more than 3 days late cannot be accepted. Because due dates are so important to the writing process, students have a tentative calendar of assignments, due dates, and tasks for the semester to refer to in order to eliminate confusion about your responsibilities in the course.

This means that any other assignment, including outlines, writing assignments, quizzes, and Paper 3 cannot not be accepted late.

Plagiarism Procedure

To be a college student is to become a member of a new community of scholarship. As scholars, we must uphold the high virtue of academic integrity and shall not commit plagiarism, a serious offense. Using sources without proper citation is considered plagiarism. For example, copying and pasting from sources without proper citation for those sources is cheating.

- The first offense for plagiarism is a ZERO on the assignment.
- The second offense for plagiarism is an F for the course.

If you are unsure about the definition of plagiarism, please see elsewhere in this syllabus or discuss it directly with the professor. Each item submitted to the eLearn dropbox is checked for plagiarism by utilizing a program called TurnItIn, which color codes plagiarized material with links to websites. It will detect plagiarism even if the student has attempted to reword the material.

To uphold academic integrity, to paraphrase originally, to properly quote, and to accurately cite source material are all rites of passage into the community of scholarship. Please uphold these high standards for yourself to establish good habits for the remainder of your college career because I, most of all, want you to succeed.

AI Statement

Writing assignments in English courses help students develop critical thinking and writing skills. Therefore, the use of generative AI programs like ChatGPT and others for any component of writing assignment is not permitted in this course. The professor maintains the privilege to consult TurnItIn's AI detection tool and her own judgment to assign a grade of zero (0) to any submission that appears to be generated by AI software. Assignment submissions that are determined to contain unauthorized AI-generated material could be subject to the same process outlined in the Plagiarism Procedure above.

Outlines

To be a strong writer in college is to also be an excellent planner. Students will be required to turn in an outline before each major paper by its due date, and I will provide feedback on the organization, logic, and argumentation of your prospective ideas for each paper. Look to any samples in eLearn for guidance on formatting and content for your outlines. Of the outlines, students will be required to write a full-sentence outline for Paper 3 only.

Without an outline, the instructor will not grade a final draft.

Rough Drafts and Feedback

The instructor will review aspects of working drafts of essays by appointment or during her office hours. If you are interested in a dialogue about your assignment prior to its due date, then please plan for ample time prior to contact me about a workshop date. Students are encouraged to make an appointment with me through my Bookings Calendar.

The most helpful resource available to Walters State students regarding essay drafts is through the Humanities Writing Lab. Services through the lab are available online by emailing the lab's tutor Dr. Jennifer Mayes via Classlist in eLearn or through Outlook to englishwritinglab@ws.edu. Students are also encouraged to promote peer review among their classmates or fellow students.

Final Drafts

Students will be expected to turn in a final draft submission for each major paper that includes MLA parenthetical citations and Works Cited. Look to any samples in eLearn for guidance. Any and all assignment sheets regarding essay content, word count, and other requirements stand as an extension of this section of the syllabus.

Writing Assignments

Writing assignments will include reflective responses or written representations of comprehension based on reading assignments and class discussions. Because students are given ample time to complete these writing assignments, they cannot be accepted late. Any and all assignment sheets regarding essay content, word count, and other requirements stand as an extension of this section of the syllabus.

Quizzes

There will be multiple-choice reading quizzes based on weekly tasks. Because students are given ample time to complete them, quizzes cannot be accepted late.

MSV Assessment

Students must take BOTH the required MSV Pre-Test and the required MSV Post-Test in order to pass the class. In other words, they are mandatory. The lack of completion of a mandatory assignment results in failure of the course.

The MSV Pre-Test will not be counted as a grade, but students are encouraged to do their best.

The MSV Post-Test will be conducted at the end of the semester. It will be graded, and it will be worth 50 points, or 5% of your final grade.

Grading Policy

For writing assignments, projects, and formal papers, the professor requires up to 14 business days after a due date to complete grading. Please observe this 14-day grace period and refrain from inquiring about when something will be graded.

Grade Dispute

In the event of a grade dispute, it is the student's responsibility to provide documentation of course work.

Assignment Sheets as Syllabus

Any and all assignment sheets for both major and minor assignments in this course will stand as an extension of this syllabus. Each assignment sheet will be provided for you to review in eLearn Content.

Student Work for Educational Purposes

This section of the syllabus is a formal contract between the instructor and the student that allows the instructor to use any student work for future educational purposes in the classroom. I will omit your name from any writing assignment that I may use for educational purposes for future 1020 students.

Academic Honesty

Faculty expect all students to refrain from acts of academic misconduct including but not limited to:

1. Plagiarism - refers to using another person's ideas or writing without giving proper credit to the original source. Indulging in this type of conduct will subject the student to disciplinary sanctions, which may be imposed through the regular institutional procedures of Walters State Community College as outlined in the Student Handbook. Plagiarism will result in a grade of "0" for the paper/exam/presentation. Student Conduct and Disciplinary Sanctions contained in the college Catalog/Student Handbook apply (see policy 04:18:02 Disciplinary Sanctions).

Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to the following:

- a. Using cut/paste tool from original document with no references given.
 - b. Copying another student's work and submitting it as one's own.
 - c. Forging or otherwise altering signatures.
 - d. Giving or falsifying academic documents or materials.
2. Cheating - construed as attempting to deceive or mislead which includes, but is not limited to the following:
 - a. Utilizing old tests, projects, notes or written papers.
 - b. Providing unauthorized information to a fellow student about exam content.
 - c. Receiving unauthorized aid from any source with quizzes, examinations, or other assignments.
 - d. Seeking information in an unacceptable manner during/preceding an exam or other assigned work (cheat sheet, verbal exchange, looking at another person's paper or electronic device, utilizing headphones, using textbook when the test/quiz is not an open book test/quiz, using textbook test bank etc.).
 - e. Consulting with a classmate or others when taking a computerized test.
 - f. Disregarding other specific policies and procedures outlined for a particular class.
 - g. Utilizing unapproved technology/electronic equipment during testing (i.e.: mobile devices such as cell phones, smart devices, or tablets, etc.).

- h. Using the same Internet Protocol network address (IP address) as another student for testing without approval from the course faculty.
3. The use of any generative artificial intelligence (AI) tool, such as OpenAI's ChatGPT, Google's Bard, or any other pre-trained language model (commonly referred to as "chatbot"), must be cited for any assignment where it has been used and may not be used unless specifically allowed by your instructor. Please see your instructor or the course policies within the syllabus if you have questions.

PURPOSE, LIMITATIONS AND MODIFICATION OF SYLLABUS

This syllabus sets forth the expectations for the course content, work, and grading as well as expectations for student performance and conduct. The syllabus does not constitute a contract between the student and the instructor or the College. The information contained here is subject to change at any time. The instructor reserves the right to modify this syllabus at any time with written notification to the students. Though changes are possible, it is expected that the course will be conducted as described in this syllabus for the semester/year specified in the Course Information section of the syllabus. This syllabus is only valid for the semester/year specified and course requirements are not guaranteed for future semesters.

COURSE GROUND RULES

- Students must attend the first day of on-ground class or contact the instructor prior to the first class. Failure to do this may result in being dropped from the class. Excessive absences may substantially lower the course grade.
- Regular class attendance is a student's obligation for any course regardless of format. (See the Walters State Catalog/Student Handbook). If a student misses class, it is his or her responsibility to contact the instructor regarding missed assignments and/or activities and to be prepared for the next class assignment.
- Students enrolled in web courses must follow the course attendance policy defined for online attendance during the first week of class and throughout the term. Failure to do this may result in being dropped from the class during week one OR may result in the accrual of absences which may negatively impact the student's grade in the course.
- Students who have not paid fees on time and/or are not correctly registered for this class and whose names do not appear on official class rolls generated by the Walters State student information system (MyWS) will not be allowed to remain in class or receive credit for this course.
- Electronic devices must not disrupt the instructional process or college-sponsored academic activity. Use of electronic devices is prohibited unless use of the device is relevant to the activity and use is sanctioned by the faculty member in charge. Electronic devices that are not relevant to the activity or sanctioned by the faculty member in charge should be set so that they will not produce an audible sound during classroom instruction or other college-sponsored academic activity.

FINANCIAL AID

Students receiving any type of financial aid or scholarship should contact the Financial Aid Office before making any changes to their schedule. Schedule changes without prior approval may result in loss of award for the current term and future terms.

All forms of student Financial Aid may be jeopardized or lost due to the lack of Satisfactory Academic Progress in one or multiple courses. Lack of Satisfactory Academic Progress may negatively impact a student's degree/certificate completion pace and further jeopardize Financial Aid eligibility.

CANCELLATION OF CLASSES AND ACADEMIC CONTINUITY
